

MILLION SIGHT FOR INVENTOR FELTS.

He Has a New Electric Battery for Restoring the Optic Nerve's Power.

Experiments on the Young Man Who Acts as Charles Broadway Rouss's Substitute.

MARTIN THINKS HE SEES BETTER.

Volts Sent Through the Patient's Brain Twice a Day—Fortune for Felts if He Succeeds in Curing Blindness.

Walter W. Felts, an electrician and inventor from California, now living at No. 207 West Twenty-second street, this city, is to make a determined effort to earn the $1,000,000 offered by Charles Broadway Rouss to any one who will cure him of his blindness.

Since the publication of this princely offer the afflicted millionaire has had schemes suggested by residents in all parts of the globe. His mail upon the subject now approaches 1,000 letters a day. Now Mr. Felts suggests electrical treatment by means of a primary battery of his own invention.

Experiments have been made on John F. Martin, of No. 152 Elizabeth street, the blind young man who has consented to act as Rouss's substitute for the purpose, and the results achieved in a few days have awakened hope in the millionaire's breast. It is said that Martin is very slowly but surely recovering the use of his eyes.

Mr. Felts's theory is that with his battery he can apply electricity in such a form to the diseased optic nerves as to fully restore their usefulness. He claims that his battery of four cells is not subject to polarization, and does not transmit impurities in the passage of the current through the brain, by which alone the optic nerves can be effectively reached.

In explaining his process and apparatus yesterday Mr. Felts said:

"It has rarely been believed by electricians that a perfect voltage and amperage with a steady current could be obtained with a primary battery, but I have demonstrated this. My cells are six inches by eight inches in size. The properties of the fluids in the cells are my secret, and I have not yet obtained patents on them. I cured my wife of paralysis of the nerves of the jaw, and I think I can do the same thing with the optic nerve. I used a stronger current to the jaw than I dare do with the eye, as it must pass through the brain. As yet the highest current I have given Martin has been nearly ten volts and fifteen amperes.

VOLTS DO NOT KILL. "The impression obtains that the volt kills, as in an electrocution, but this is erroneous. It is the amperage that kills. Voltage is pressure; amperage is quantity. Tesla took 250,000 volts through his body, but the wonder is that he got so great a voltage with little amperage. If the voltage could be kept clear of amperage, a million volts might be passed through the body. Mr. Martin was taken to Tesla and agreed to take 100,000 volts, but Tesla feared to pass it through his brain, as the absence of amperage could not be guaranteed. I contend that if the amperage kills, I also cures, and that is the base of my treatment."

"This new process of electricity was applied to John F. Martin yesterday. Martin is a young man of about twenty-six years. When he was led into the room it was seen that his eyes were wide open; but he is almost absolutely sightless. Nine years ago his vision began to fail, and to-day he can distinguish a figure in a strong light only as a vague shadow. Before treating the blind man Mr. Felts attached the ends of two wires connecting with his cells to a small, incandescent lamp of eight-candle power, which is just half the size of the ordinary electric light.

SOME NOVEL EXPERIMENTS. This immediately glowed with great brilliancy. Martin then sat in a chair, and two sponge rollers, having been attached to the battery, were applied to the forehead of the head, just above and slightly forward of the ear. Martin said he felt a slight tingling feeling at the places of contact, and a tingling of the nerves within his head. He also said he saw flashes of light before his eyes. This, Mr. Felts argued, shows that the optic nerve was not dead, but merely paralyzed.

Back application extends over an hour, and the patient is then asked to read, stating that it is possible to apply a higher amperage through the brain. Mr. Felts says he could cure Martin in two weeks. As it is, he is confident that the young man's sight will be restored in a few months.

Martin cheerfully submits to every test Mr. Rouss thinks may possibly prove successful. He said he had never seen a light before. "When I go to bed now I take two gelatine pills suggested by a man named Comstock. Then I have two batteries, one attached to the head, and the other to a small box, the contents of which I don't know. These things are attached to my head and neck. I also have 'electrophone' attachments on each wrist, and the other to the hand, and the drippings from the ice chest. On each eye I have pieces of linen saturated with a solution recommended by a man from Cobleskill, N. Y. It is seldom that I get a good night's rest."

Martin has so far tried about 200 different methods for the cure of blindness. The most extraordinary was suggested by a man named M. Koran, of No. 5 West One Hundred and Seventh street. He made Martin drip and go into a bath, they dress without drying, and run the current for hours upon the grass of Central Park while it was still wet with the morning dew.

Mr. Felts says he is pretty sure to win that million dollars.

STAGE ROBBERS UP THE STATE.

They Try Their Hand at "Holding Up" and One Gets Knocked Senseless.

Watertown, N. Y., July 31.—An attempt was made today near a swamp to hold up the stage that runs between Gouverneur and Rousesville. The driver, Everett Sawyer, says that he noticed two men on the road ahead of him whose actions aroused his suspicion. He quietly drove along until about opposite the two men, when a third man was seen among the bushes.

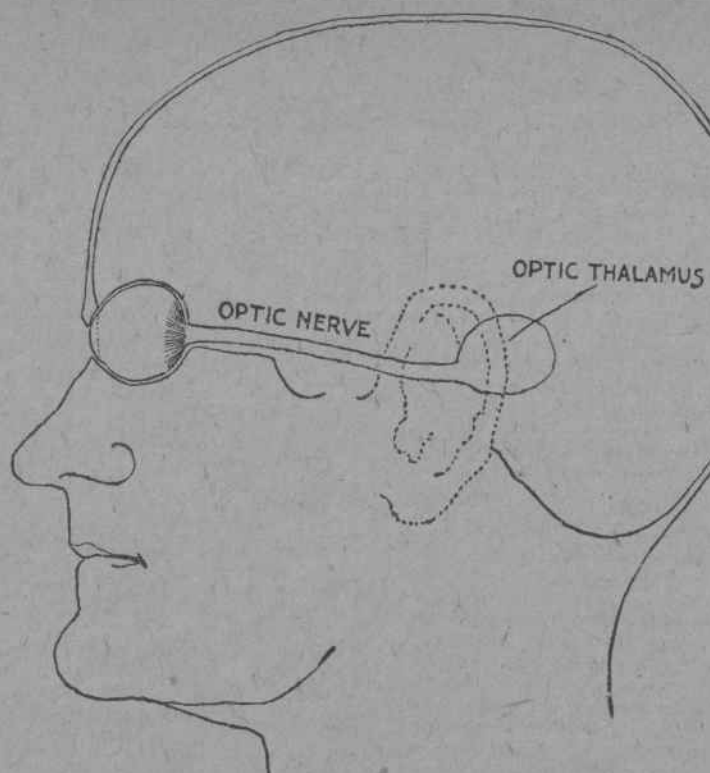

This man seized one of the lines and the driver struck him across the forehead with the butt end of a loaded revolver. The man was knocked insensible and was picked up by his companions and carried into the bushes. The stage then proceeded, and reached its destination safely.

Rode 1,000 Miles for a Bride.

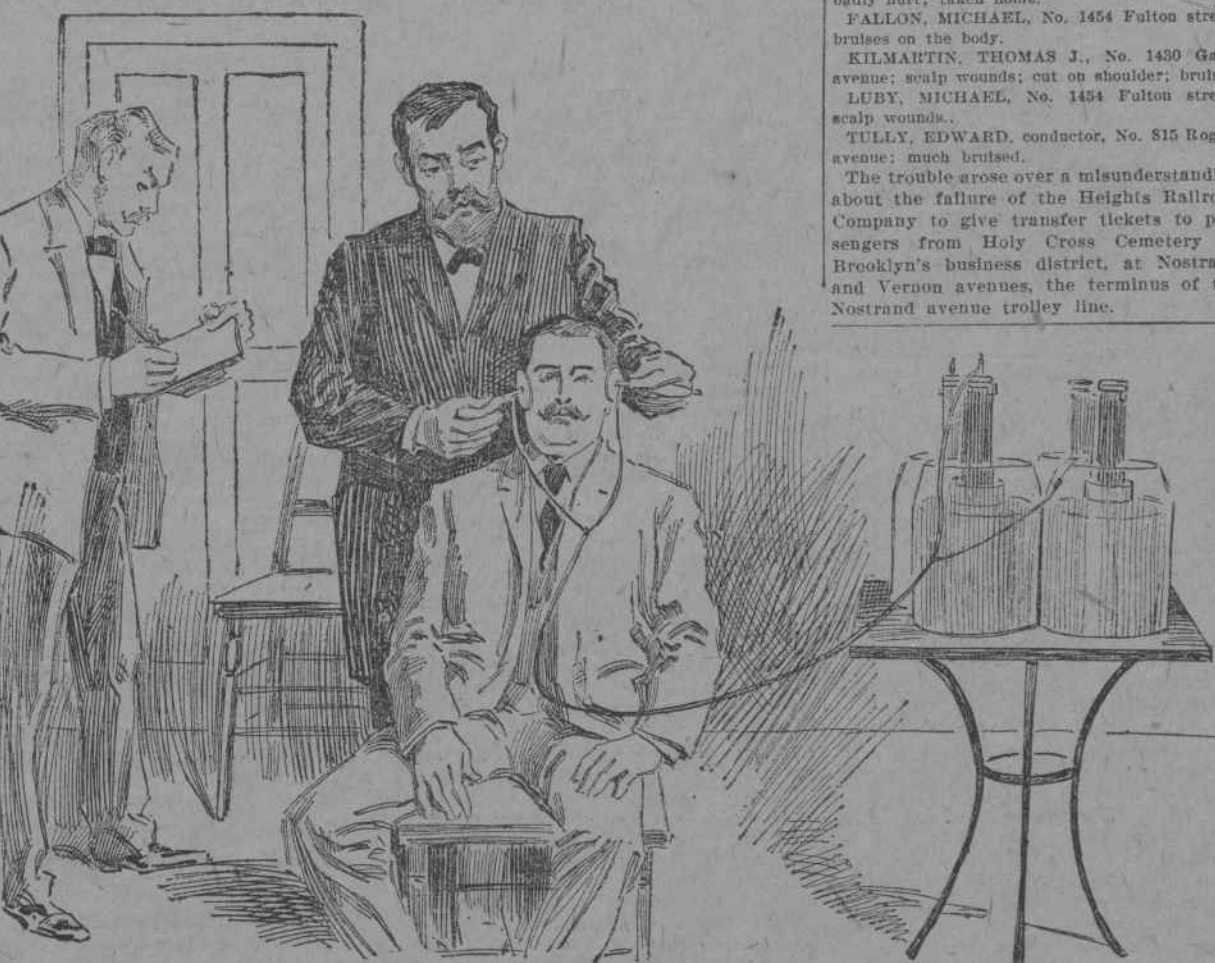

Oswego, Mich., July 31.—Fifteen years ago Luther E. Ash, of Bennington Township, then a lad of fifteen years, was compelled to go to Montana in search of health. In a year he was well enough to herd cattle, and began to correspond with his neighbor's daughter, Eliza Spangler. He proposed and married a young man, 6 feet tall, strong and robust, was seen riding a pony through the village of Bennington. He moved to the village of Bennington, and was seen riding a pony through the village of Bennington.

Nerves to Which Felts Applies Electricity.

INVENTOR FELTS TRYING TO RESTORE A BLIND MAN'S SIGHT.

He has an electric battery of a peculiar construction, with which he thinks he can cure blindness caused by paralysis of the optic nerve. He is now experimenting upon the young man Martin who is acting as a substitute for Charles Broadway Rouss, whose offer of a million dollars for the restoration of his lost sight has stirred up thousands of persons, anxious to earn the reward. Mr. Felts says he is sure to succeed and declares that Martin's sight is already improved. The illustration shows the inventor in the act of applying the electric current to Martin just forward of the ears.

NINETEEN MUST DIE.

Members of a Band of Brigands Convicted in a Hungarian Town—Two of Them Women.

Agram, Hungary, July 31.—Members of a gang of brigands and murderers were convicted here to-day. A verdict of guilty of murder was pronounced against nineteen of them, who were sentenced to death. Others of the prisoners were convicted of lesser crimes and were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment. Two of the prisoners on whom sentence of death was passed are women.

AMERICANS AT MONTEVIDEO.

Montevideo, July 31.—The party of American manufacturers that left Rio de Janeiro July 28 on the steamship Danube on their way to the Argentine Republic arrived in this port to-day.

They were greeted by American naval officers. United States Minister Granville Stuart and United States Consul Schramm boarded the Danube, and the Minister made a short address of welcome, stating that the Government of Uruguay had made all arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors in this republic upon their return from Buenos Ayres, which will be August 15.

AMERICANS VISIT GLADSTONE.

Sage Receives Them Courteously and They Give Him Three Cheers.

London, July 31.—Mr. Gladstone was yesterday welcomed upon by a hundred members of the Philadelphia Manufacturers' Club at Hawarden Castle. He personally escorted the visitors about the grounds and narrated the history of the castle to them. The Americans were greatly pleased by the warmth of their reception, and thanked Mr. Gladstone heartily for his courtesy. They then gave him three cheers. Mr. Gladstone was delighted with this token of appreciation, and said it was the first time he had heard American cheers.

CHOLERA BEYOND CONTROL.

Plague Spreads with Frightful Rapidity in Egypt.

Washington, July 31.—Advises received at Marine Hospital today from Alexandria, Egypt, show that the cholera outbreak there has not beyond control. The report, dated July 11, says: "During the week before last fresh outbreaks occurred in sixty-nine different places and last week in eighty-seven. During seven days up to the first instant 1,200 deaths were reported, and in the following six days 1,700 deaths. So far, 8,000 deaths have occurred from the present outbreak."

Five Injured in the Melee, Which Is Stopped by a Squad of Brooklyn Police.

MOTORMAN HAS HIS NOSE BROKEN.

Woman and Three Children Aid in the Battle, but Escape Arrest—Others Will Appear in Court This Morning.

In a fight between trolley car passengers and the conductor and motorman yesterday afternoon at Nostrand and Vernon avenues, Flatbush, five persons were injured so badly as to need medical treatment. One will probably be unable to leave his home for several days. Several arrests followed.

The list of the injured is as follows: CONNAUGHTON, JOHN, No. 645 Classon avenue, motorman; broken nose; cuts on the face and head; severe bruises on the body; badly hurt; taken home.

FALLON, MICHAEL, No. 1454 Fulton street; bruises on the body.

KILMARTIN, THOMAS J., No. 1430 43rd avenue; scalp wounds; cut on shoulder; bruises.

LUBY, MICHAEL, No. 1454 Fulton street; scalp wounds.

TULLY, EDWARD, conductor, No. 815 Rogers avenue; much bruised.

The trouble arose over a misunderstanding about the failure of the Heights Railroad Company to give transfer tickets to passengers from Holy Cross Cemetery to Nostrand and Vernon avenues, the terminus of the Nostrand avenue trolley line.

LAST OF THE MOUNT TOM GANG

Thomas Green, the King, Like Some of His Subjects, a Prisoner.

When Thomas Green, the ruler of Mount Tom, crept back to his realm Thursday none of his subjects were there. Mount Tom is a knoll, just inside of the wall of Riverside Park opposite Eighty-third street, and a gang of tramps, under the leadership of Green have made their headquarters there.

When driven off by the Park police they have escaped over the railroad tracks along the river, and when chased in turn by the municipal police, they have got out of their jurisdiction by clambering back over the wall into the Park. Now several of the gang are in the workhouse, and the rest have been dispersed. Even the King himself is a captive, having been arrested after a struggle yesterday by Park Policeman Boylan. In the Yorkville Police Court Green too was sentenced to the workhouse.
